

Pierre Lagacé

Field forester

- PIERRE holds a bachelor's degree in Forest Science from UMCE and a Diploma in Forest Technology from the Maritime College of Forest Technology, Bathurst Campus.
- Pierre has been a forester for fifteen years and has acquired various experiences across Canada. He worked in New Brunswick for Acadian Timber and Fiready. In Quebec, for the Temiscouata group venture. In British Columbia for CANFOR and finally in Alberta for Bushmen Enterprise Inc. and S.R.D.
- At NHRI, Pierre holds the role of team leader. He also participates in selected research projects. With its partners and NHRI staff, it contributes to implementing NHRI tools and ensuring their success. He participates in mobilization activities and works with specialists, partners, members and clients to propose other solutions and thus brings added value to NHRI partners.
- When he is not at work, Pierre devotes himself to carpentry and practices archery. In summer, it's kayaking, canoeing and paddle boarding that occupies his time and in winter it's snowboarding.
